The article "I Love my Work" by Arthur C. Brooks appears in the magazine The American produced by the American Enterprise Institute. In this article the author discusses the value of work as more than just a wage. He brings up a town in Austria called Marienthal where many people lost their jobs and how it affected them. This article will help me show how people don't just work for money, but also for fulfillment in their lives.

Duncan, Rodger Dean. "The Why Of Work: Purpose And Meaning Really Do Matter" Forbes.

The article "The Why Of Work: Purpose And Meaning Really Do Matter" by Rodger Dean Duncan is from the website Forbes.com. In this article the author interviews David and Wendy Ulrich about their book The Why of Work: How Great Leaders Build Abundant Organizations That Win. This article has many great questions and answers from experts in the field about how to make work meaningful. It will help me support the argument that work is more than just a paycheck.

Lonsdorf, Kat. “Millions Are Out Of A Job. Yet Some Employers Wonder: Why Can’t I Find Workers?” Morning Edition, National Public Radio, 15 February 2021, npr.org/2021/02/15/966376492/millions-are-out-of-a-job-yet-some-employers-wonder-why-cant-i-find-workers.

This is a transcript from the radio show Morning Edition on NPR. In it the reporter Kat Lonsdorf discusses the lack of workers and surplus of employers since the pandemic. The reporter talked to a businessman who is looking for workers and a specialist at ZipRecruiter who give thoughts on why jobs are so hard to fill these days. This transcript will give me good cause and effect for my argument.
